MUSSOLINI CALLS MEET OF PREMIERS

World Importance Attached to Conference Being Held in City of Rome

POLITICAL ACTION

Il Duce Acts in Attempt to Normalize Situation in Central Europe, Claimed

ROME, March 13.—(UP)—A new phase in European politics, with practical diplomacy substituted for a "state of suspicious idealism," began today when premiers of Italy, Austria and Hungary gathered here for a conference of world importance.

The conference was emphasized as one to discuss economic relations. Actually its political repercussions reached directly to German Nazism and the future of Central Europe and indirectly to the disarmament problem.

In calling Austrian Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and Hungarian Premier Julius Goemboes here, Premier Benito Mussolini with characteristic impetuosity took the lead in abandoning talk in favor of political action.

In the conference with the two ex-enemy premiers, Mussolini hopes to put Austria on the road to a new deal and to remove the danger of war from Nazi encroachment in that emancipated country. Mussolini let it be known he was disgusted with the rent of disarmament and political negotiations in Europe and proposed to set himself to try to normalize the situation in Central Europe, which finds 100,000 armed men on Austria's borders, waiting to attack anyone who attacks her, and which finds Italy, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Roumania ready to decline war.

Austria is threatened by a strong Nazi movement—how strong no one knows—among young Austrians, whose leaders and thousands of whose ranks file are refuting in Nazi Germany.

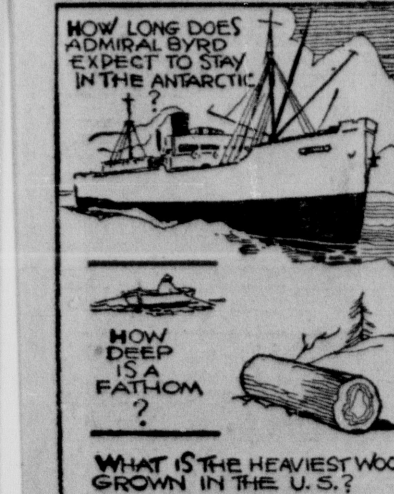

FOUR CONVICTS MAY FACE MURDER COUNT

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., March 13.—(UP)—Prison officials and Martin county authorities were to confer today on the punishment to be given four convicts whose unsuccessful effort to escape resulted in the death of a fellow inmate.

District Attorney Henry Greer was quoted as saying that no murder charge could be filed against the quartet and that the only possible charge would be manslaughter.

The convict slain in the jail break attempt was John H. Arbuckle, 28, recently admitted from San Bernardino county on a bigamy conviction. He was wounded fatally when a home-made gun exploded. Authorities believed that the gun was discharged accidentally when the four convicts in the escape plot tied up their fellow prisoners in the prison electrical shop.

Former Kaiser Plans For Own Funeral

LONDON, March 13.—(UP)—The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party, reported today that former Kaiser Wilhelm and members of his family would confer at Doorn this week for plans for his own funeral. The dispatch came from the Herald's Amsterdam correspondent. Princess Hermine, the former German Kaiser's consort; former Crown Prince Wilhelm, the Princess Eitel Friedrich and August Wilhelm, the correspondent said, would attend the conference. It was said the family would discuss Wilhelm's failing health, his funeral and plans for the family's future after his death.

SAMUEL INSULT HANDED PAPERS FOR TRAVELING

Must Leave Greece Before Thursday or Be Deported to United States

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press) THENS, March 13.—(UP)—A Samuel Insull was furnished with United States government traveling papers today as those around him guarded him closely in fear that he might commit suicide. Insull's wife was urging him to return to the United States and face trial but it was reported he would go to one of a half dozen other countries including Liechtenstein, the dream-like republic of 60 square miles and 10,000 inhabitants, on the Rhine between Switzerland and Austria.

The American traveling papers were provided at the suggestion of the Greek government. Many consulates had refused to visa the Greek government travel papers given Insull so he could leave the country before Thursday, when he must go or be deported on the first ship sailing to New York.

At noon today Consul General Leland B. Morris handed the for-

SUPPRESSED BOOK TO BE PUBLISHED

NEW YORK, March 13.—(UP)—Suppressed by government order, and its plates destroyed in the Washington printing plant, a book written by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's father and discussing economic phases of war will at last be given wide publication, it was announced today.

The United Feature Syndicate announced that it had purchased newspaper serial rights to Charles A. Lindbergh, sr.'s "Your Country at War and What Happens to You After a War," and that publication would begin March 26.

The book, written in 1918, predicted with strange accuracy current economic trends, and included a plan similar to the NRA and other phases of the "new deal."

The report recalled that the corporation had this year resumed dividend payments, making available a disbursement of $2,954,879, at the rate of 1 1/2 cents a share, on January 31.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, today charged that the communications regulation bill of Sen. Clarence Dill, Dem., Wash., would disorganize the telephone business, imperil its efficiency and jeopardize the investment of 681,000 stockholders.

Testifying before the senate interstate commerce committee, Gifford argued that any communications legislation should be restricted to that called for by President Roosevelt. Gifford interpreted the president's recent message as suggesting merely a transfer to a new commission of the powers over communications now exercised by the interstate commerce and federal radio commissions.

Income Tax Collections Reveal Gain

Total Revenues for First 10 Days of March Far Ahead of Year Ago

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—A sharp rise in income tax collections, with the approach of the March 15 deadline, has carried the government's total revenue for the fiscal year to date to above the $2,000,000,000 mark, treasury figures showed today.

The government's total income from July 1, the start of the current fiscal year, to last Saturday, amounted to $2,001,959,185, against $1,293,522,909 in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

Income tax collections so far this month rose to $2,615,681 from $10,272,693 in the corresponding period. The total revenue in the first 10 days of March was $116,357,929, or more than double the $43,319,712 collections in the first 10 days of March, 1933.

Heavier expenditures this fiscal year more than offset the sharp rise in income, however, and the deficit on March 10 stood at $2,442,727,975, against $2,221,903,727 a year ago. Expenditures so far this fiscal year, bolstered by the emergency program, amounted to $4,444,687,140, against $3,515,426,686 last year.

Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said income tax collections in many cases were above earlier estimates. Further heavy collections are anticipated with the approach of the March 15 deadline.

Income tax collections for the fiscal year to date amounted to $382,822,669, against $393,612,341 for last year.

SEEKS PORTION OF PAUL BERN ESTATE

HOLLYWOOD, March 13.—(UP)—Herman A. Koch, public administrator of Sacramento county, has renewed his court fight to obtain half the estate of Paul Bern from his widow, Jean Harlow.

Koch filed an amended complaint, setting forth the same claims as those contained in an original action—that a division of Bern's $37,000 estate should go to the estate of Dorothy Millette, the decedent's reputed common-law wife, who drowned herself shortly after Bern shot himself to death. The amended complaint contained technical adjustments which were ordered by the court when the original suit was dismissed on Miss Harlow's demurrer.

TRANSAMERICA IN REPORT SHOWS GAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—(UP)—The gigantic Transamerica corporation today reported consolidated net profits of $11,339,639 for 1933, a gain of 42.32 per cent over the 1932 profits.

The profits, amounting to 48 cents a share, were attributed to "both increased income and the effect of rigid operating economies."

The report recalled that the corporation had this year resumed dividend payments, making available a disbursement of $2,954,879, at the rate of 1 1/2 cents a share, on January 31.

DEARBORN, Mich., March 13.—(UP)—The Ford Motor company today announced it was raising its wages to return to the minimum basic wage scale of $5 a day. The announcement was in keeping with a previous statement by Henry Ford that he was planning to make this move.

MASON CITY, Ia., March 13.—(UP)—The First National bank was robbed late today of an undetermined amount of money by eight men who entered the bank during the closing hour rush, shot one customer and fled with at least 10 hostages.

DEMOCRATS COMPLAIN OVER ROOSEVELT'S REQUEST FOR TARIFF AGREEMENT POWERS

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Some troubled Democrats were complaining today that President Roosevelt was asking them to commit political suicide in supporting his request for authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff agreements.

A small group of Democrats is preparing to offer limiting amendments to the administration tariff bill if it is brought to the senate vote at this session. The consensus of opinion is that Mr. Roosevelt will insist upon unqualified authority despite murmurs from within his own party.

An amendment being discussed now by back bench senate Democrats would require submission of trade agreements to congress for approval before they became effective. It is proposed that a reciprocal agreement be approved by a mere majority vote in contrast to the two-thirds majority which is required to ratify a treaty.

Sen. William E. Borah, Repn., Idaho, former chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, is not satisfied with a majority decision. He believes the agreements will be treaties in a legal sense and must be ratified by the customary two-thirds senate vote.

Borah has expressed the opinion privately that he would refuse to submit these agreements to the senate as treaties would render the whole process unconstitutional. There is not much support for that theory among Republican opponents of reciprocal trade agreement authority.

But senate Republicans would be expected to vote almost unanimously for a limiting amendment such as some Democrats contemplate.

EXPECT SENATE TO TURN DOWN SOLDIER BONUS

Measure Sent to Conference With Senate After Its Passage in House

BULLETIN WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—The house today refused to send the independent offices appropriations bill to conference in an effort to adjust differences regarding senate amendments involving the restoration of the federal pay cut and veterans' compensations reductions.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Out of a turbulent house revolt in favor of payment of the bonus the administration today salvaged a partial victory on the question of increased compensation for veterans and restoration of government pay cuts.

Shortly after the Democratic controlled house had kicked over the traces and approved the $2,400,000 soldier bonus bill by a 205 to 125 vote in the face of a

WATERWAY PROJECT HEADED TO DEFEAT

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Administration forces appeared to be facing certain defeat today as the St. Lawrence waterway fight entered its conclusive phase.

The senate met an hour earlier than usual, with limitation of debate imposed at noon in preparation for a vote on the proposed treaty tomorrow evening. Taking stock of the situation, Democratic leaders found themselves in a discouraging predicament. They simply did not have the votes necessary to obtain ratification. The information was taken to President Roosevelt by Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson. The leaders believed that only some master stroke from the White House could bring a favorable treaty vote.

PUBLISHER WILL BE KEPT UNDER GUARD

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—(UP)—A purported plot to kidnap the 8-year-old son of John (Jake) the Barber Factor, Chicago millionaire speculator, from the home of the boy's uncle in Beverly Hills, was disclosed by police today.

The boy, Alvin, has been living with his uncle, Robert Cowan, since Factor was kidnapped last summer, allegedly by the Roger Touhy gang. The boy is under heavy guard.

Police shrouded their movements in the utmost secrecy. It was learned, however, that one suspect was arrested and after several hours of questioning, released. Detectives indicated no early arrest were anticipated.

Three Taken Safely From Ship Today

Signals Heard by Rescuers From Water Tight Compartments, Reported

SAEBO NAVAL BASE, Japan, March 14.—(Wednesday)—(UP)—Navy officials at Sasebo base issued a communique at 1 a. m. today saying it was indicated that at least 15 men of the 116 aboard the capsized torpedo boat Tomozuru were alive.

Signals heard by rescuers, the communique said, indicated eight were alive in the stern of the torpedo boat, three in midships and four in the forward part of the hull.

Three men already have been rescued from a water-tight compartment. They were exhausted and were sleeping in a secluded part of the docks, guarded from correspondents and photographers.

The 1 a. m. communique said rescue work was not progressing as expected.

The Tomozuru capsized during naval maneuvers in a heavy sea. It was towed keel upward to the Sasebo base, where it was righted.

Shortly after the boat, which capsized during naval maneuvers, was righted, three men were taken alive from a water-tight compartment. Great excitement was manifested at the naval base where relatives of the 116 officers and men of the Tomozuru had gathered, convinced that all aboard the torpedo boat were dead.

Navy men were encouraged when the three were discovered alive. Preparations to open other compartments were rushed. Finally word was sent to waiting throngs that the rescuers reports sounds, believed to be the rapping of survivors, deep in the hull.

Meanwhile, the three survivors, weak from 30 hours exposure in the overturned "—", recounted stories of an adventure outlasting in peace time naval maneuvers.

Convinced they faced certain death, the men calmly wrote a memorandum, which they left in the stokers' room. The document was written with great difficulty as the compartment in which they huddled was pitch dark.

"I wrote saying I was ready to die for the emperor," one of the men told the United Press, "then I became dazed by the foul air and desperate hunger. I struggled and climbed and suddenly the hatch opened. We had been entombed 30 hours. I cannot remember exactly how we got out."

The survivors said the Tomozuru suddenly was rocked by a terrific wave and all became dark. They quickly closed a compartment and were convinced that other officers and sailors died likewise.

FOUR LOSE LIVES IN INDIANA FIRE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 13.—(UP)—A mother and her three children were burned to death today when fire destroyed their small frame house here.

Victims of the tragedy were Mrs. Edna Finch, 28, and three of her daughters, Ernestine, 4; Frances, 6, and Carol Jane, 5.

Kenneth Finch, father of the children, was away from home at work. A defective flue in the living room stove was believed to have started the flames.

JOHN FACTOR'S SON KEPT UNDER GUARD

NRA Program In Germany Is Announced

BERLIN, March 13.—(UP)—An NRA recovery plan for German industry was announced today by Kurt Schmitt, minister of economy. The far-reaching program would divide industry into 12 main categories, each under a sub-leader directly responsible to the ministry of economics, to synchronize production "in the interests of all."

Schmitt is opposed generally to cartels and price fixing but said the "price fixing and even control by quotas will be necessary in the future in certain branches."

OPERATIONS OF ARMY AIRMAIL TO BE STUDIED

Lindbergh, Wright and Chamberlain on Committee of Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—Secretary of War George H. Dern has appointed Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Orville Wright, Clarence Chamberlain, and Maj. Gen. Hugh Drum to make a thorough study of airmail operations by the army, it was learned at the war department today.

Gen. Drum will be chairman of the committee, which will inquire into all phases of army air corps airmail operations to date, it was said.

Dern's instructions creating the committee said it would have authority to call witnesses and to take testimony. All phases of airmail flying will be exhaustively studied by this committee, including flying equipment, cross-country flying, night flying, blind or instrument flying, as well as the equipment of various fields used by the airmail planes.

Other members of this committee will be Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of air corps; Maj. Gen. George S. Simonds, commander of the army war college; Maj. Gen. John W. Gulick, chief of coast artillery, and Brig. Gen. C. E. Kilbourne, of the general staff.

This comprises the so-called "Drum board" which was appointed last July at the time the office of Assistant Secretary of War for air was abolished. The committee made an exhaustive study of the needs of the air corps, and as a result recommended the five-year program for the air corps. The first step of this program was the request for appropriation for 1,000 new airplanes and authority to create a general headquarters air force.

The war department announcement of the committee said in part:

"The secretary of war desires the committee to study and report upon performances by the army air corps in its mission to carry the airmail as directed by executive order No. 6591, and the adequacy and efficiency of its technical flying equipment and training for such a mission."

DAMAGE IS SLIGHT IN QUAKE REGIONS

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 13.—(UP)—Precautionary measures were being taken today to prevent occupation of earthquake-weakened buildings in Utah before they were definitely established as safe. Damage, however, was slight in Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and Nevada, where earthquakes were felt yesterday.

Dr. L. John Nuttall, jr., superintendent of public schools in Salt Lake City, ordered all school buildings thoroughly examined. While none was damaged badly, it was explained that students would not be allowed to enter buildings that had not first been examined by engineers. Schools were dismissed yesterday shortly after the second earthquake shock at 11:21 a. m.

TRAINED MEN TO FLY OVER NINE ROUTES

Feeder Routes Will Be Operated as Soon as Pilots Are Available for Planes

SAFETY PARAMOUNT

Resumption of Service is Ordered After 48-Hour Halt in All Operations

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(UP)—A skeleton airmail service was ordered resumed by the army today over nine key routes, with safety of the personnel placed as the first consideration.

The resumption of service came after a 48-hour halt in all operations occasioned by a sharp demand from President Roosevelt that the growing list of army air fatalities be cut short immediately. Feeder routes to the basic airmail network will be added as rapidly as fully trained pilots and first-class equipment can be placed in service.

The army's experience with the airmail, however, was hardly expected to last longer than the time required to get it well under way on an effective basis, since congress was rushing plans to give the task back to the private lines. The army was called into emergency created when private mail contracts were cancelled by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

The question of responsibility for the disastrous result of the army mail flying which cost the lives of 10 pilots in three weeks was under scrutiny today. Farley indicated that he would not share this responsibility with the statement that "we had the assurance of the army that it could carry the mail, and we assumed its men and equipment were o. k."

The assurance, it was revealed, was given by Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the air corps, who was quoted by postoffice officials as expressing enthusiasm over the army's opportunity to give its fliers new experience. Other high army officers, however, said they had not been consulted before the order transferring the mail from private to army planes was issued.

FIRST LADY VISITS AT WOMEN'S PRISON

ST. GERMAN, Porto Rico, March 13.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt touring Porto Rico to learn living conditions at first hand, has found them unexpectedly good.

On a visit yesterday to what had been described as the worst spot in Porto Rico, the national women's prison at Arecibo, she was astonished to find conditions good.

The hospital was clean, and the women able to sit up were working at lace making. Other prisoners were lined up for her, wearing blue wrappers, in a big room in which they sew by day and sleep at night.

She left for Nares, and eating a picnic lunch on a mountain top near the town she found ten girls about ten years of age. One of them, Antonia Galarza, read a Spanish poem to her.

1933 Death Rate In Orange County Lowest On Record

DROP RECORDED IN CONTAGIOUS CASES IN YEAR

Submitting his annual report for 1933 to the board of supervisors today, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, revealed that during the past year the death rate for the county dropped to the lowest point on record, 9.70 per 1000 population. In 1932 the rate was 16.52.

Dr. Sutherland also reported that during the year there were fewer cases of contagious diseases reported to the department than there were in the previous year. The total number dropped from 4992 in 1932 to 4184 in 1933.

In his report he said, in part: "During 1933 there were only seven cases of diphtheria in the whole county of Orange, and none of these proved fatal. By way of comparison we should remember that as recently as 1928 there were 250 cases of diphtheria in the county, with 22 deaths, and 1928 was not an epidemic year, but merely marked the peak of a gradual increase in cases which had occurred during several years just previous. This last year was the first year since 1913 which was free from deaths due to diphtheria. The widespread immunization program carried on by the Health Department for several years is without doubt largely responsible for this reduction in diphtheria cases."

No Epidemics
Out of 20 different types of disease reported, there were 963 cases of mumps, 874 of measles, 785 of chickenpox and 517 of whooping cough. Among the more serious diseases, scarlet fever led the list with 275 cases, which even so is a decrease of 17 cases over last year. There were no epidemics of serious contagious disease during the year with the exception of a threatened epidemic of smallpox which was limited to 27 cases in the city of Fullerton. Vaccination of about 200 school children and adults kept the disease from spreading to other communities.

Similarly, deaths from contagious diseases were fewer this year than last, with a total of 211 recorded as compared with 257 for 1932. Since 1928 there has been a steady decline in death rates for contagious disease from 251.37 in 1928 to 167.46 in 1933.

The only exception to our favorable report for 1933 is the record for tuberculosis. The number of deaths from tuberculosis during the year remained at 96, exactly the same as for 1932. And more encouraging still, the number of cases of tuberculosis reported increased from 144 in 1932 to 183 in 1933. This is the greatest number of cases of tuberculosis ever recorded for one year. Fifty-four of the 96 deaths were among Mexican people, 19 of the total among all races dying from the disease were under 20 years old.

Births Decline
There were 1746 births this year, 14 less than last, and of these, 560 were Mexican, only 19 less than last year in spite of the Mexican emigration to Mexico.

One of the most encouraging items in the whole year's record is the marked reduction of infant mortality accomplished in 1933. The infant mortality rate (number of deaths under one year per 1000 live births) for the year was 87.20, the lowest rate on record for this county as compared with 77.2 for 1932. This year's rate compares more favorably than has been the case in the past, with the rate for California as a whole, which reads 52.8. Orange county, along with some of the other Southern California counties, has previously had an unusually high infant mortality rate.

Of the 100 infants who died during their first year of life, 60 were Mexican. Nineteen of these died from pneumonia and 12 from diarrhoea and enteritis. Of the 59 deaths among American infants, 22 of them were due to premature birth. This would seem to indicate the necessity of a more complete prenatal program among expectant mothers.

Health Education
We feel that much of the improvement in the infant mortality rate can be credited directly to the more extensive health education work which has been conducted this last year among Mexican mothers by Dr. Geddes, who carries on her program under the auspices of both the County School Department and the Health Department. During the year she conducted 99 Mexican baby clinics, examined 1723 babies brought by 862 mothers. In addition, she gave 70 health lectures in the Mexican language to large groups of Mexican women. While Dr. Geddes is particularly fitted to work with the Mexican people, it should be clearly understood that only a part of her time is given to that phase of her work.

There was a decrease in cancer during the year, but an increase in deaths from heart disease. About 60 per cent of the heart deaths were in people over 65 years, however, and only about 4 per cent in people under 35 years, a fact which somewhat mitigates our concern over the rising heart death rate.

There are 35 senate Republicans and even if 30 of them supported amendments to the administration bill it still could pass unless 19 or more Democrats bolted the administration. Deserter on that scale is not likely.

Complaints are largely sectional and based on fears that Mr. Roosevelt would exercise his bargaining authority to lower tariffs which now protect sectional industries. The Pacific northwest is a center of sharpest complaint. Some persons believe any tampering with the lumber tariff would cost the party dearly in that section. Republicans welcome the Democratic uneasiness and promise to add to it, if possible, during the approaching campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt sought to allay fears in his March 2 message. He emphasized that he needed authority for rapid and decisive negotiation leading to agreements which would give foreigners "opportunities in the American market for foreign products supplementary to our own." In addition to this promise to favor only supplemental imports, Mr. Roosevelt promised his plan would provide additional markets for American cotton, tobacco, hog products, rice, cereals, fruit and the products of American mass manufacture.

"The exercise of the authority which I propose," the president said, "must be carefully weighed in the light of the latest information so as to give assurance that no sound and important American interest will be injuriously disturbed."

certain veto by President Roosevelt, an administration compromise was won on the benefit and pay cut issue.

A Democratic caucus voted 165 to 74 to refer the independent offices bill, which carries amendments which virtually would wreck President Roosevelt's economy program, back to conference with the senate.

The action prevented the measure from coming before the senate in its present form.

Despite the overwhelming house vote for the bonus, it was believed likely that the senate would reject the proposition as it has in the past. Two years ago the senate defeated the bonus by a smashing 62-18 vote as bonus marchers thronged the streets of Washington.

However, should the senate also pass the bonus, Mr. Roosevelt has announced flatly that he will veto it. The necessary votes to override the veto cannot be obtained in the senate.

The ultimate fate of President Roosevelt's economy program remained uncertain despite the indications of a compromise.

The procedure adopted provides that the bill will be sent to conference with the senate without instruction. The house conferees must report back to the caucus

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, March 13.—(To the Editor of The Register:—) Well, just as the air mail stopped, that famous new streamlined train pulled into our village; it looks like more than an ad, it looks like a fact. Railroads are waking up now, they are speeding up and giving great service, and getting their rates down, finally competing with the bus and truck now instead of just cussing 'em. Trouble with American transportation is that you can get somewhere quicker than you can think of a reason for going there. What we need now is a new excuse to go somewhere.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Other possible refuges were Canada, Great Britain, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, Roumania and Luxembourg—most of which have efficiently working extradition treaties with the United States.

HAS TWO HOURS FREEDOM AFTER "WALKING OUT"

When William Shumaker, accused of grand theft, walked nonchalantly out of department one in superior court this morning and then dashed down the stairs he failed to take into consideration the new Orange county police radio system.

When Shumaker returned to the county jail in less than two hours, wearing handcuffs, he was ready to admit the efficiency of the system. He was captured at Seventeenth and Mabury streets by Deputy Sheriff Merle Deane after a chance that involved practically every police officer and deputy sheriff in the city.

When the first radio call went out on the air, City Motor Officer George Boyd, who was at headquarters, was one of many who joined in the chase. While riding near Grand and Seventeenth streets shortly before 11 a. m., he saw the suspect in an orange grove half hiding in the tall cover crop. Shumaker failed to stop when Boyd shouted to him so the officer shot once in the air and then directly at the man, with the bullet whizzing past his ear.

When a woman dashed from a house near Lincoln avenue and Seventeenth street, Boyd called to her to telephone the police station. She complied at once, police notified the radio station and within a few minutes the vicinity was filled with radio cars from the sheriff's office, police department, highway patrol, federal offices and several owned by private citizens.

Deputy Sheriff Deane recaptured the escaped prisoner on Mabury street just south of Seventeenth. Shumaker offered little resistance when Deane jumped from his car and faced him with a gun. When Shumaker walked out of the court room, he was waiting trial before a jury on a charge of grand theft of an automobile to which he had pleaded not guilty. Bailiff John Ryan had crossed the room to open the windows and Shumaker slipped out a side door before Ryan and several court attendants and spectators were aware of his absence.

After he was recaptured, he was returned to court and signified his intention to withdraw his original plea and plead guilty to the charge. Superior Judge H. G. Ames postponed accepting the plea until this afternoon.

COUNCIL CONSIDERS RULE ON CLOSING HOURS FOR CAFES IN S. A. SELLING LIQUOR

Determined to eliminate many of the asserted evils surrounding cafes serving liquor and others permitting dancing, the city council last night appointed a committee to make an investigation in other cities and secure data on closing hours.

It has not been decided by the councilmen whether to pass a closing hour ordinance or exact a gentlemen's agreement among cafe proprietors to enforce earlier closing hours. The general opinion of the council is that the doors should be locked to newcomers at 12 midnight and all customers required to leave by 1 a. m. At the present time, some of the cafes continue festivities until 2 and 3 a. m. or later, causing many complaints to be made from nearby residents. It was brought out in the council discussion that earlier closing hours would not be overly injurious to business and would prevent much of the disorderly conduct in the establishments and on the streets outside.

City Attorney Clyde Downing cited to the council that a state law forbids the selling of any liquor between the hours of 2 and 6 a. m. Members of the council said they understood that many places were not obeying it, including one establishment which remains open all night.

A wholesale beer distributor present at the meeting said he was heartily in favor of a closing hour ordinance similar to that in effect in other cities, but said he favored a 1 a. m. limit instead of midnight.

Mayor Paul Witmer announced that the committee to report back next week on the matter would be composed of Councilman E. G. Warner, City Attorney Downing and City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

The agitation for reforms in the liquor selling business here followed a sensational report made to the council by a special investigator last week that the law forbidding the sale of liquors to minors was being flagrantly violated in Santa Ana.

MURDER CHARGE WILL BE FILED AGAINST DRIVER

Murder charges were scheduled to be filed this afternoon by District Attorney S. B. Kaufman against Al Brunner, 40, Huntington Beach boat owner who was the driver of a car which crashed into another machine on the coast highway near Dana Point Sunday morning and caused the cremation of two women in the car, serious injury to himself and three other persons and minor injuries to three others.

Brunner, who was originally identified as Al Brown, since he formerly was an amateur lightweight boxer using that name, is confined in the Orange County hospital with serious injuries, including a probable fractured skull. Miss Mildred Beckman, Los Angeles school teacher and an occupant in the burned car which was driven by Max Devitt, Los Angeles, is still in a critical condition at the Santa Ana Valley hospital while others injured in the crash were reported as improved.

District Attorney Kaufman said today that he would file the murder charges, since an investigation showed that Brunner was intoxicated at the time of the wreck and that the impact was directly responsible for the deaths of Mrs. Jennie Orinstein, 45, and her daughter, Miss Beverly Orinstein, 23, both of Los Angeles, who were burned to death. Brunner was charged with drunken driving yesterday.

Physicians and nurses at the Orange County hospital said that Brunner was intoxicated when received at the hospital nearly three hours after the crash and the odor of liquor was on his breath. This was denied by members of Brunner's family, however, who maintained that he was unconscious from his injuries and had not been drinking.

Francis Brunner, owner of the Santa Monica Mountain Coach Lines and brother of the injured man, stated today that his brother has gone to San Diego to purchase a gear for his charter boat, "The Early," which operates from Huntington Beach and had not been to Tia Juana, as reported by officers. He said that two companions, Herman F. Tella, 18, and William Dugzan, 19, accompanied his brother on the trip.

Companions Sentenced. Tella and Dugzan, both charged with drunkenness, were taken before Judge John Landell in San Juan Capistrano yesterday and were sentenced to serve 30 days each in the county jail. Both were cut and bruised in the crash.

Coroner Earl Abbey announced today that he would hold an inquest from the Divel Funeral home in the next two or three days, pending any change in the condition of Brunner and Miss Beckman.

According to reports from both Brunner and Devitt, drivers of the cars, each claimed that the other car headed toward him. Evidence secured at the scene of the crash by California Highway Patrolmen Lloyd Groover and Ben Craig, however, reveals that the Brunner machine crossed the wide four-lane highway and struck the Devitt machine, hurling it across the highway, where it burst into flames.

Harry Orinstein, 46, husband and father of the dead women, Sheila Mae Orinstein, his seven-year-old daughter and Devitt are confined in the Santa Ana Valley hospital with Miss Beckman.

The figures were included in a story published yesterday by The Register which made a comparison of the amount of money loaned in Orange county with larger amounts loaned in northern counties of California.

B. AND P. W. CLUB HOST AT DINNER EVENT OBSERVING BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK

National Business Women's week, being celebrated all over the United States by organizations of progressive women, was launched very successfully in Santa Ana with a dinner given last night in Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, at which the local Business and Professional Women's club entertained members of prominent women's organizations of the city.

For entertaining the guests, the hostess club selected Mrs. Amelia Johnson, well known woman lawyer of Los Angeles, as speaker, and Wallace Le Gras, baritone, and Halstead McCormack, accompanist, as the musical feature.

Mrs. Marie Fowler, club president, and Mrs. Ross Cochran, committee chairman, received the guests and presided at the speakers' table, garlanded with flowers in green and white to harmonize with those used at intervals with green candles, down the length of the grouped tables.

Program features opened with music, and Wallace Le Gras, soloist at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah and prominent in Cantata club, delighted his audience with the songs "Invictus," "Little Bit of Heaven" and "Love and Success to You," the latter being dedicated to his hostess club.

Mrs. Johnson, who last year represented California business women at the state legislative sessions, watching against discriminatory legislation, gave a fine address on woman's place in the world, touching upon problems of national and international importance. The good situation, stabilization of currency, armaments and similar national affairs were discussed. She pointed out the necessity of the nation's womanhood concerning itself with conditions that lead to misunderstandings between nations that in turn make war possible.

She talked of the radical changes in public thinking, of the measures taken by President Roosevelt to bring this country out of the depression, and of the rapid strides taken by women in the business and social life of the nation. In closing, she urged that clubwomen work to maintain peace and prosperity in home communities, and by their sympathy, understanding and co-operation, further those conditions throughout the nation.

Among club organizations represented by guests sharing the evening with Business and Professional Women, were Ebell society, Santa Ana Woman's club, Capistrano chapter Y. L. L. Parent-Teacher associations (both city and local units) the city schools, and many similar feminine groups.

Club announcements made by Mrs. Fowler included the board meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Y. W. clubrooms; the next general club meeting on Monday night, March 26, in the Doris Kathryn, and of invitation to join San Clemente-Santa Juan Capistrano club in its meeting with the new Laguna Beach club, Monday night, March 19 in our Village. Reservations for this event must be made in advance through Miss Helen Gallagher.

WITNESS FACES SAN CLEMENTE BACKS $68,000 BOND PROJECTS

Conflicting testimony in two trials involving the same accident brought D. L. Potter, 27, Long Beach, into the justice court yesterday on a perjury charge and his preliminary hearing was set for March 21 at 9 a. m. by Judge Kenneth Morrison. Bail was fixed at $2500.

On August 31, 1933, Potter was driving a car on the coast highway near Laguna Beach and was involved in a wreck with a parked truck. Roland W. Price, Long Beach man riding with Potter, sustained serious injuries and was confined in hospitals for some time.

Potter was tried here before a jury on a charge of drunken driving and was acquitted on October 19. Later in Long Beach, Price sued Potter in a civil action for damages. When California Highway Patrolman Horace Inge learned that Potter had given conflicting testimony at the two trials, he filed charges and Potter was brought here yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey.

Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner is conducting the prosecution.

Judge Pacht To Be Speaker At Church Dinner Wednesday

Judge Isaac Pacht of the superior court of Los Angeles, who will be the speaker at the Wednesday night study-dinner at the First Congregational church this week, will speak in the church auditorium and the public is invited to hear him. The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor, announced today.

Judge Pacht will speak on "Germany and Hitlerism." In speaking of the speaker and his subject, the Rev. Mr. Schrock said, "The eyes of the world are upon Germany and Hitler just now. Judge Pacht is interested in the situation because he is a student of world affairs and particularly because he is himself a Jew and feels keenly the injustice that is being heaped upon his fellow religionists. The judge is a man of brilliant mind and is a able speaker. The dinner will be given at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening and all who are interested are invited to hear him."

HEALTH ASSOCIATION OUT OF BUSINESS

Following an investigation started by N. H. Hull of this city it has been announced that the National Travelers' Health Association has no permit to do business in this state. District Attorney S. B. Kaufmann told Hull after his investigation that John Blank, president of the company is at present on trial in Los Angeles courts on insurance fraud charges and is facing additional trials for violation of the Medical act and the State Insurance act. At present the company has suspended business.

Seat Covers Sold By Western Auto

With the introduction of the new 1934 automobile models, new car buyers will be interested in ways of protecting their car from wearing out prematurely, asserts Jack Campbell, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company, who calls attention to the fact that Hollywood Kustom-Bilt seat covers to fit the new models may be secured at Western Auto, where the largest and most complete line of patterns in the west are on display.

"Use of seat covers preserves the appearance of the upholstery of the car and greatly prolongs its life," Campbell said. "It is a practice among many motorists to outfit their car with Kustom-Bilt as soon as they purchase their car."

Indian Chief To Speak To Club

Big Chief White Horse Eagle, well known and interesting character, will be the featured speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Twenty-Third club at 6:30 tonight in James' cafe. It was announced today.

The speaker is reported to be 112 years of age and during his life at one time he captured Buffalo Bill's mother when the famous pioneer character was but three years old. The Indian raised Buffalo Bill from a child to manhood.

Politically Speaking

BY GEORGE E. HELMER (United Press Staff Correspondent) SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 12.—(UP)—The board of equalization, after struggling under fire for three months to handle a complex political move by establishing a liquor control division and naming George M. Stout superintendent.

Stout, who served for 12 years as a member of the veterans' welfare board, will assume a major portion of blame and complaints which Fred Stewart has had to shoulder. Stewart, Dick Collins, Jack Corbett and H. G. Cattell may return to their tax duties and forget about liquor. They may organize their re-election campaign without having quite so much of the liquor mixup stigma beclouding their reputations.

There was considerable joking in the capital about Stout being made "the goat." As soon as his appointment was announced, Stewart, Collins and Corbett professed to know nothing about liquor. "Ask us about taxes," they laughed.

Stout moved into his new job in a fanfare of publicity following his resignation from the welfare board, which he deserted in protest to a new delinquency foreclosure order. He blamed John P. Brennan, director of veterans' affairs and a prominent figure in the Rolph administration, for the order which threatened to evict 2000 veterans from homes financed by the board.

Brennan was not reachable when the Stout break occurred. There was no way of obtaining "his side of the story." Administration heads said they understood the foreclosure plan was aimed at veterans who, although they now have jobs, refused to meet their payments on homes and adopted the attitude of "try and get it."

Governor Rolph was expected to look into the matter upon his return to work after his present illness. He always has insisted veterans be given the breaks, and observers did not believe he could accept the eviction plan at its face value.

Service men's organizations throughout the state protested the foreclosure order which loomed as a minor type of administration boomerang unless it may be explained satisfactorily.

Stout, incidentally, discarded all thought of becoming a candidate for state treasurer when he accepted the $5000-a-year liquor job.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to Walgreens' McCoy drug store or your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 3 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or whose ears are hard of hearing or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Two Face Judge On Theft Charges

ORANGE, March 12.—Richard Fletcher, 24, of 119 West Palmyra avenue, and Warren Felte, 22, of 720 West Palmyra avenue, were arraigned before Judge A. W. Swayze yesterday on petty theft charges. They are accused of stealing oranges from the ranch of W. W. Harrington on Santiago boulevard in Villa Park.

Judge Swayze set the preliminary hearings for tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. Both were released from the jail after posting $200 bond. The defendants were brought to court by the arresting officers, Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhart and Fred Swayze of the farm theft detail.

TRAVEL SECTION RESUMES SESSIONS

ORANGE, March 12.—Members of the Travel section of the Orange Woman's club met yesterday in the clubhouse lobby, resuming sessions after a brief vacation. Mrs. Flora B. Johnson presided and gave the principal talk of the afternoon, showing typical New York scenes and characters drawn by Tony Sarg.

Mrs. Johnson gave an interesting resume of the development of the present educational system in New York, where there are now 700 grade schools. One hundred years ago, Mrs. Johnson said, 1000 pupils were taught to read and write, congregating in one great room with one monitor or teacher for each 10 pupils. The two branches of learning were accomplished in from two to three months' time, she said.

At the next meeting of the section to be held April 9, Mrs. Emma Williamson will give a travel talk on Boston.

Couple Married By Judge Swayze

ORANGE, March 12.—Virgil D. Young, 24, an employee of the Fox studios, and Theresa Pamer, 24, both of Los Angeles, were married by Judge A. W. Swayze at his home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hauber accompanied the couple to Orange.

Liquor division stories enlivened interest in the capital again after a complete silence had descended upon the printing plant kissing scandals. Finance Director Roland Vandegrift's "gap" orders were so effective that employees in the plant even hesitated before answering questions as to the time of day. As a result, additional information on sensational rumors was practically impossible to obtain, and it appeared the entire matter would be "kissed off" by the administration.

An example of Vandegrift's gag rule was seen when the head of one department in the plant was asked "How many girls work in your office?" "I'm sorry, but you'll have to ask Mr. Vandegrift that."

Vandegrift, by the way, insists he hasn't even thought about the possibility of running for governor. "I haven't considered it," he said. "If Governor Rolph decided not to run, it then would be something to think about."

ART

The superb skill of Attorney General Cummings in handling the Mellon-Lamont-Walker-Sidlo income tax cases is the current sensation of the inner political world.

Devotees of the finer arts of statecraft have never seen such perfect timing and balancing.

The Lamont case first developed last June 9, when the Morgan partner publicly testified he sold stock to his wife and bought it back later. The Mellon case has been hanging fire for more than six months. The Jimmy Walker facts date back to the pre-Roosevelt era when his financial operations were disclosed by the Seabury investigation.

Nobody knows when the Sidlo matter originated. Finding it at all was a good job. Mr. Sidlo is a well known and respected citizen, but he hardly rates politically or financially with Messrs. Mellon, Lamont and Jimmy Walker.

SELECTIVITY

The one understandable explanation of how Mr. Sidlo got into such choice company is that he is allied with a chain of liberal newspapers which have been howling for the ships of—yes, Messrs. Mellon, Lamont and Walker.

The cases all started at different times, months ago, but they all came off the department of justice mimeograph machine in the same handout—just these four:

Mr. Mellon, the arch Republican. Mr. Lamont, the Wall Streeter. Mr. Walker, the Democrat, (a splendid choice).

Mr. Sidlo, the liberal. The only thing which kept it from being perfectly balanced was the failure to include a Socialist and a Communist. They probably had to be left out because none of them has enough money to pay income taxes.

BIRDIE

The timing was even more exquisite.

Aside from the fact that the old cases phenomenally came to fruition simultaneously, the announcement was made just four days before the next income tax payments were due.

And, wonder of wonders, it came on the Sunday which most of the income taxpayers had set aside to work out their returns. (The Sunday papers have more circulation than the week-dailies.)

The psychology of that move will be apparent when the returns are counted after Thursday. With Messrs. Mellon, Lamont, Walker and Sidlo facing prosecution for not being liberal with their government, the other few million taxpayers certainly could not afford to take any chances.

APPRECIATION

Only skeptics will suspect that this peculiar political balance and this psychological timing in Mr. Cummings' brilliant swing were intentional.

Politics and psychology have nothing to do with justice. At least they should not. It is just a coincidence, possibly strange and unusual, but, nevertheless, a coincidence.

The anti-administration gang can be expected to interpret it as a put-up job. They may point out that Mr. Cummings has been fully as brilliant in politics as in law. They may resurrect the fact that the attorney general was chairman of the Democratic National committee for five years and an official of every National committee for the last three decades.

If they do, his friends can point out that he was state's attorney for Fairfield county, Connecticut, for ten years.

Nevertheless, all true political artists know real art when they see it.

LINDBERGH

The Lindbergh reconciliation was not quite in the class with the Cummings masterpiece.

Col. Lindbergh was called to Washington by War Secretary Dorn. On his arrival the air ace managed to escape pursuing news photographers, as is his custom. But next day, Dorn invited the photographers in to take pictures of himself with Lindbergh, smiling and laughing with each other, as if they were old pals.

The time was correct. The pictures appeared in most newspapers next morning alongside Mr. Roosevelt's new air mail instructions to Dorn.

MEN

Quite a social occasion was made of the reconciliation also. The Lindbergh family had lunch with the Dorn family. Afterward Dorn issued a public statement that he considered Lindbergh as "our foremost authority on aviation questions."

Dorn also let it be known that he and Lindbergh had not merely talked to each other, but that they had talked "man to man."

UTILITIES

Governor Lehman's utility regulation plan has hit a couple of hidden reefs and will be left stranded unless political pressure from Washington tows it off. Even then it's likely to spring important leaks.

The utilities haven't confined their opposition to public hearings. Their mobilization of every possible ally has been something to watch. For instance a number of banks and insurance companies have been moved to protest—through private legislative contacts and likewise through state bodies regulating their affairs—against prospective impairment of their utility investments. Their protests carry weight because no one in Albany wants to see these institutions run the risk of another jam.

Also the rural districts have been stirred up with reports that municipal power plants mean either no electric service for them at all or inferior service at much higher prices. This argument is reflected in the wavering attitude of legislators representing rural constituencies.

COMPROMISE

State Republican leaders differ as to the strategy they should employ. An important faction favors supporting the Lehman measure as is—whether they like it or not—to disprove any linkup with the "power trust" and to throw responsibility for whatever happens in Democratic laps. Another group is hostile on principle and doesn't care who knows it.

The Republican vote will accordingly be split and Lehman's success will depend on how well he can swing his own party. The Tammany-utility hookup is well known. That makes it look hopeless unless a compromise preserves the form while omitting key portions of the substance.

Local sharps predict one compromise will provide that municipalities be allowed to erect their own plants if willing to bid in existing private facilities at a "fair price."

It's known here that Washington has an interested eye on the Lehman program. But insiders doubt whether Washington influence will weigh much in Albany at this stage.

LABOR

New York is genuinely disturbed at the prospects of serious labor trouble. The grapevine indicates that strikes in the automobile industry have only been postponed—not canceled. Meanwhile auto leaders stand as firm as ever for their "merit clause" and the open shop.

Word here is that the government heartily dislikes having the issue raised at present but doesn't feel it can give ground to help the employers' side. On the other hand it's understood in high local quarters that there's no wish to crack down on the motor companies if it can be helped. Even some labor leaders feel the fight has been badly timed.

Experts agree that a tie-up in the auto industry would hurt recovery worse than trouble in almost any other field—partly because motor makers are big customers of so many other industries and partly because the valuable momentum it has gained would be lost. You hear plenty of forecasts from informed sources that the government will have its hands full trying to maintain industrial peace within six weeks.

WEIR

Mr. E. T. Weir of National Steel apparently doesn't care how many fights he picks with the government. Apart from the labor issue New Yorkers hear privately that he plans to build a four-million-dollar addition to his plant in defiance of orders that no production facilities shall be added without specific NRA consent.

Weir doesn't mind his role as banner-bearer for the rugged individualists a bit. He has told friends he will yield to no authority below the Supreme Court.

CONSUMERS

Consumers have at least one break coming their way. Most every industry in the country will file statistics to prove that the 38-hour week is ruinous in their special case. Some exceptions will be granted. Others are certain not to be.

New York understands the latter class includes all the industries which the Consumers' Advisory Board claims have raised prices faster than costs. That will MUST TRAIN YOUTH TO HELP OTHERS, BOYCE TELLS P.-T. A.

FULLERTON, March 13.—The time now has arrived when the emphasis on education must be squarely on social contact, not on how much an individual can earn as result of being educated; not on how he can rise highest, at the expense of another, but on how he can be assisted as an individual to contribute most to his associates through life, Dean W. T. Boyce of Fullerton district junior college declared in an address before the Fullerton Union High School Parent-Teacher association Monday night.

"The present insecurity, the darkness that surrounds life at present, is an indictment not only against the educational system but against the church and the home," he said. "Youth has not been trained to consider the welfare of the mass and the challenge today is to build boys and girls into thoughtful human beings, helping themselves and others to obtain the highest and best purposes in life."

In continuing on the subject, he stressed the need of the junior college movement and said that the real educators urged the building of the junior college around a five-fold purpose, the first of which, he said, is a curriculum of social intelligence, training in social citizenship. The speaker said that the other four purposes all hinge on this one purpose, and are part of it. They are training in specialized vocational work; training in professional work; training in pre-academic work, and adult education.

Preceding the talk by Dean Boyce, A. S. Redfern, vice principal, in charge of boys of Fullerton district junior college, talked on the requirements for high school entrance, and the requirement for graduation with college entrance in view.

Mayor Conrad Candidate For Supervisor's Office

CITY COUNCIL ETS MARCH 14 IN RESIGNATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 13.—Mayor Elson G. Conrad tendered his written resignation to the city council at an adjourned meeting last night. Mayor Conrad stated in the resolution that he would be a candidate for supervisor of Orange county at the next primary election. He said order to avoid the possibility of special election to choose his successor, he desired that his resignation become effective as of April 1, thus making it necessary that the people choose his successor at the regular city election.

On motion of Councilman T. B. Albert the council deferred action on the mayor's resignation until an adjourned meeting to be held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. At that time it is possible that a successor may be chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the mayor. The successor, if appointed by the council, would serve 16 days before becoming a candidate for the position at the regular April 9 election. The resignation of Mayor Conrad came as a surprise in local official circles. It makes it necessary to elect four instead of five councilmen at the April election. The new council will be inducted into office on April 16. Mayor Conrad has served six years on the council, and three as mayor. At the election four years ago he obtained about 50 per cent of the votes cast, receiving the largest plurality ever recorded. A candidate here, Councilman T. B. Albert was supervisor from this district for years. He was succeeded four years ago by John Mitchell of Garden Grove.

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pablo, a handsome 17-year-old youth, works at the palatial Florida home of a millionaire. Jim Field, a servant of the Englishman, and a servant girl, Pablo knows nothing of his parents. When 85 years old he was away from Angela, the heartless old crone in whose care he was left. Since then he has lived with Noyes, a mysterious individual who has seen better days. Field's estranged wife and their daughter, Estelle, arrive at the Florida home. Pablo sees Estelle and most at once falls in love with her. He tells her that he is a runaway. Field's wife Noyes is wanted by police for a murder years before and that she is going to report him. Pablo tells Noyes to hide in the swamp and promises to meet him there that night.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VII

The swamp was a place of low-lying trees from which hung Spanish moss—the gray, ghostly growth that brings the eeriness of moonless, wind-haunted night to the brightest of noons. Sometimes there were fugitives there and Noyes shivered, pushing in among the trees with a blunt prow. He feared the place but he felt a stronger fear made it a sanctuary.

No one could track him here. He knew the swamp as few knew it and a canoe left no scent for dogs. Perhaps even now at Bantam's feet were watching for him. He remembered, with a cold clutch at his heart, having snubbed Jeffries in telling him that they both were fugitives, a not too pleasant story of woman they both knew. He wondered whether Jeffries remembered.

"Even if he does I don't regret," Noyes said to himself. Presently he discovered that deep in the swamp some one had lit a fire. A faint glow from it came through the dense undergrowth and the curtains of seeming dead, yet ever-growing moss. Noyes would see who had lit the fire after he had tried and hidden in the swamp. It would be just as well to know who else was here and it could also help to put in the time. Pablo was always thorough and that meant he would be slow. Noyes' nerves were at such a state that inaction was torture.

CONFERENCE ON HOME LOANS IS HELD MONDAY

All applications for loans from the Home Owners Loan corporation handled through the Los Angeles area office, which has jurisdiction over Orange county, are expected to be cleaned up by June 1, according to Harvey Harris, manager of the area who spoke to nearly 80 bankers, representatives of title companies, building and loan officials and real estate men at a conference yesterday afternoon in James' cafe.

Describing the tremendous amount of work involved in handling the applications and getting loans completed, Harris told the group that since the office opened on August 7 more than 1000 interviews a day have been taken care of.

The office has had a total of 35,000 applications totaling $119,000,000, he said, and a total of 5152 loans have been closed, representing an average of $2850 a loan. A total of 6725 loans have been closed in the entire state, he declared. During the next few weeks the office plans to handle 1000 loans a week.

Since the Home Owners Loan corporation bonds have risen to $7, applications for loans have increased, Harris said. He said that it is anticipated that the government will guarantee the bonds. He urged persons or institutions holding mortgages to help home owners and do a real service by accepting the bonds for their mortgages.

In an informal conference held following the talk, Harris answered questions of an individual nature asked by those present at the meeting. He said that loans could be made on homes even if they are situated on agricultural land. He announced that work now is being started to make loans to corporations.

The speaker was introduced by Ben Blew, investigator for Orange county, who announced that he has received 1200 applications in Orange county and has investigated nearly 1100 of them. The applications in Orange county amount to nearly $3,000,000, he said. It is essential that loans be closed now without undue delay, he declared in urging co-operation among all interested parties in accomplishing this.

QUESTION OF WEED REMOVAL BEFORE COUNCIL

Cutting of weeds on vacant lots this summer came up before the city council last night, following a letter of inquiry from City Engineer J. L. McBride and a recommendation from the planning commission that the council take action to beautify the city by removing weeds.

McBride said that the weeds were destroyed last year through an RFC project and that it would not be possible to have CWA assistance this year. He said that work must be started now in posting lots and publication of an ordinance if the weeds are to be destroyed this summer in the customary manner.

In the year 1932-34, $1708 was put on the tax rolls for collection on weed cutting, with $898 being collected and $710 being delinquent. The year previous, $1782 was put on the rolls, $558 was collected and $1258 was delinquent, making a total delinquency of $1968.

McBride urged that the weeds be cut this year to remove a fire hazard and beautify the city. This was the same expression as given by the planning commission, which urged that an ordinance be passed to provide for the posting of lots to clear off the weeds.

No action was taken on the matter and a continuance was granted until next week.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Dear Santa Ana Register:
Do you know that in the early history of Santa Ana, most of the passenger travel was by ocean between Southern California and the outer world.

The Pacific Coast Steam Ship company ran two steamers between San Francisco and San Diego, the Orizaba and the Ancon. These vessels were side wheelers, and in rough weather the paddle on one side of the boat would be very deep in the water while on the other side it would scarcely touch, as a result travel was very slow.

The schedule was so arranged that one ship left San Francisco coming south at the same time the other one left San Diego going north. These vessels called at San Pedro, Santa Barbara and Port Harford. At San Pedro, where passengers from our section took the boat, the water was so shallow the vessel did not come into the harbor but anchored at sea and the passengers were transported from the wharf in a small tug boat with a lighter in tow on which the baggage was carried.

Going north the steamer left San Pedro any time from 10 o'clock a. m. till 4 o'clock p. m. I have made the trip several times on these boats. We were at sea two nights, arriving in San Francisco the third day anywhere from 8 o'clock a. m. till 5 o'clock p. m.

My parents frequently had friends visiting from San Francisco and we would meet them at San Pedro. We would hitch a couple of the old plow horses to a light spring wagon, leave Santa Ana about noon, drive to the present site of Long Beach (there was no Long Beach in those days), make camp on the mesa overlooking the ocean, break camp early the next morning and go on to San Pedro to await the arrival of the boat. This might be in the middle of the forenoon on until evening. We would then return to Santa Ana, arriving home at any time from late in the afternoon till midnight.

In addition to the two steamers mentioned above the Steam Ship company ran two smaller ships, the Los Angeles and the Eureka. These boats made many stops enroute.

The Orizaba and Ancon were replaced by the Santa Rosa and the Queen of the Pacific. These latter vessels were driven by propeller and made much better time.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR DANCING ACADEMY HERE

Following withdrawal of many protests concerning the location of a dancing academy at Fourth and Van Ness streets, the city council last night granted a permit to D. W. Johnson, 527 South Garnsey street, to open the hall as soon as desired.

The matter was continued from the last council meeting, when a large group of citizens living near the proposed dance hall appeared before the council with signed petitions protesting the lease. At that time, they decried the dance hall because of alleged unnecessary noise, traffic congestion, harm to property values and because there were two other dance halls in the near vicinity.

Attorney Otto Jacobs, representing the protesting group, said that following the agreement of Johnson in closing up the windows at the rear of the dance hall to prevent loud noises, many of the petitions

WORLD'S LOWEST PRICED CAR WITH INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING

COME SEE...
The Only Low-priced Car with Individual Wheel Springing plus... Floating Power..Safety-Steel Body.. Hydraulic Brakes

YOU'VE SEEN TWO of the leading low-priced cars. Now see the only low-priced car with Individual Wheel Springing—PLUS the three other features that are vital to real car value today!

Plymouth is the world's lowest-priced car with Individual Springing. It's on all models—even the lowest-priced.

And note this: Plymouth's Individual Wheel Springing is the strongest and simplest type known. In principle, it's exactly like the kind used on much higher-priced cars!

And you pay no price penalty to get it! But Plymouth gives you more than one feature to insure smooth, easy riding. Every Plymouth has patented Floating Power engine mountings to end engine vibration.

These mountings are more than just rubber under the engine. They suspend the motor in balance—it absorbs its own vibration.

You can rest and relax—because with these two big features, Plymouth gives you the smoothest ride in the low-price field.

It's the Safest Low-priced Car
Everyone wants to be safe—so look at Plymouth's brakes—and Plymouth's safety-steel body. Every Plymouth has a Safety-Steel body—built of steel reinforced with steel—then welded into one permanent piece.

That means real protection. It means no joints to rot, pull loose or squeak. It means longer life with less need for "service" because of body troubles.

And the brakes are all-hydraulic. No bolts, rods, cotter pins. Sure, smooth, equal action on all four wheels at all times—because hydraulic brakes are automatically self-equalizing.

Plymouth is the only low-priced car that gives you all of these important features. In fact—no other low-priced car offers you more than one of them. Ask any Dodge, DeSoto or Chrysler dealer to prove that Plymouth is a better engineered car. Ride in one today—and see what your money ought to buy this year!

Council Orders Radio Sets For Police Motorcycles

WOULD MEAN BIG INCREASE IN EFFICIENCY

Further cooperation with the Orange county police radio station was authorized by the city council last night in a decision to purchase three motorcycle radio sets for the motor policemen in the police force, as well as a fourth car radio to be installed in a new police car soon to be purchased for the police department.

On the recommendation of Police Commissioner E. G. Warner, it was agreed first to advertise for bids on a new police car not to exceed $860 in cost. One of the four cars now used by the police for patrol work is an old touring car which is not in running shape. The council was informed by Warner and City Auditor Lloyd Banks, and will be traded in on the new car.

The city had already purchased three sets for the three cars, and then ordered the fourth set for the new machine. It was then brought out that radios for motorcycles would increase the efficiency of the men from 30 to 50 per cent at a cost of from $50 to $60 per motorcycle. The officers now call in to the police station once each hour, but would be in constant contact under the radio system.

The motion for the radios was made by Warner, and seconded by councilman A. F. Le Gaye, who earlier endorsed the idea of securing more efficiency at a nominal cost.

PROGRAM FOR AVOCADO MEET IS COMPLETED

Some 400 avocado growers from Southern California districts are expected to attend the Fifth Annual Institute at Placentia next Friday, according to A. R. Marshall, chairman of the Orange County Farm Bureau Avocado department. The sessions will be held in the auditorium of the Placentia grammar school and will open at 9:30 a. m. with an address of welcome by Leroy Lyons, county supervisor from that district.

The program this year, held under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension Service and the Farm Bureau, is expected to be particularly timely and valuable. It has been arranged to meet the requests of a large number of growers throughout the south, and covers subjects that are uppermost in the minds of the producer at this time.

The revised and final program just released by the farm advisor's office is as follows:

Address of welcome, Leroy Lyons, supervisor, Orange county.

"Pruning the Avocado," J. G. France, farm advisor, San Diego county.

"An Analysis of Production Costs," Harold E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, Orange county.

"Fertilization of Subtropical Fruits," W. R. Schoonover, specialist, Agricultural Extension service.

"Controlling Movement of Stolen Fruit," Edward Craig, assemblyman, Brea.

"Food Value and Place of the Avocado in the Normal Diet," Miss Belle Alger, home demonstration agent, San Diego county.

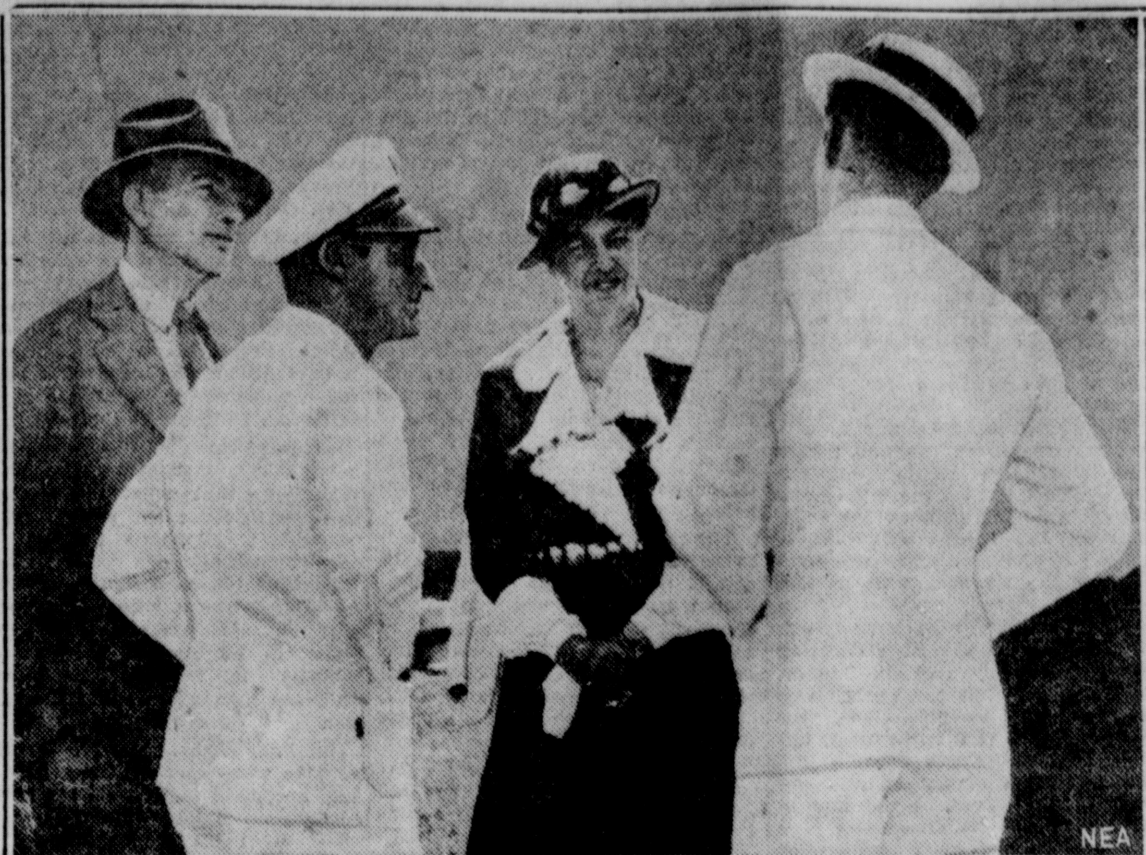

"Problems in Irrigation and Erosion," J. B. Brown, irrigation specialist, Agricultural Extension service.

"Marketability of Avocado Varieties," Leigh Crosby, Lord and Thomas, Los Angeles.

"Overcoming the Alternate Bearing Habits of Avocados," Prof. R. W. Hodgson, University of California.

First Lady on Cuban Soil After Hop From Miami

An interval in Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's air voyage to Puerto Rico is recorded here as the First Lady chatted with officials after arriving in Nuevitas, Cuba, first stop after taking off at Miami, Fla. At left is Rexford Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who also was bound to Puerto Rico to study economic conditions.

NO MORE POLO TO BE PLAYED AT CITY BOWL

Polo in the municipal bowl was a thing of the past today following the request of the Valencia polo association at the city council meeting last night to be released from the contract with the city calling for semi-monthly games for one year.

Ed Hall, president of the club, said that the club was securing another field and wished to discontinue the present contract, which was granted by the board.

The first game was held on March 3 before a sparse crowd. It was felt by the council that the horses might damage the turf considerably if many games were played in the bowl.

There were only 39 paid admissions at the first Sunday afternoon game, it is reported.

Gas Stations On All Four Corners Here

First and Cypress streets will soon have the distinction of being the only intersection in Santa Ana having a gasoline service station on all four corners.

When no verbal or written protests were made to the city council last night, the application of the Gilmore Oil company was granted to build a steel station on the southeast corner of the intersection. The planning commission had previously recommended that the property be posted for special use.

Gas stations already are operating on the other three corners.

On the request of the oil concern to install at 35-foot driveway on First street instead of the customary 25-foot length, the council took no action but referred it to the city engineer and street commissioner, giving them power to act. The same action was taken on the application of the Independent Ice company for a 35-foot driveway on the Main street entrance of the establishment at Fifteenth street.

REPORT COUNTY RELIEF CASES ON INCREASE

In a recent statement from Sacramento, released by R. C. Branton, federal state relief administrator, it was reported that in Orange county 711 cases of unemployment relief were handled during December and that in January the number increased to 991 with a total cost of $11,951.36 or an increase of 93.5 per cent over the cost of the program in December.

This number of cases in January, according to County Welfare Director Byron Curry, included all single relief cases and families in the county. The December total of cases, according to his records was 612 instead of 711. The cost of the program in December was $5711.22 for unemployment relief cases, he said.

According to Branton's report there was a marked decrease in the number of relief cases handled over the state in January in comparison with those aided during December. Branton said that although there was an increase in the amount of money involved.

In December there were 117,627 cases handled in the state, while in January there were 95,363 cases or a decrease of 18.9 per cent. A total of $1,716,594, including administration costs, was spent in January, this being an increase of 11.8 per cent over December.

Increases were particularly heavy in Monterey, Stanislaus, Tuolumne, Yuba, San Bernardino, San Joaquin, Kern, Orange, San Luis Obispo and Tulare, the latter leading the list with an increase of 90.3 per cent in the number of cases handled, Branton reports.

Most of the decrease occurred in the population centers, where availability of jobs removed several thousand persons from relief rolls. CWA, PWA and other unemployment relief projects aided in the task of providing a living for the destitute.

Funds for the direct relief work were obtained from the $20,000,000 bond issue voted in the special election last June. To date, $6,000,000 has been spent and another $6,000,000 worth of the bond issue sold.

FIND MISSING GIRL

Betty Ives, 10-year-old Laguna beach girl, reported missing last evening, was found in Costa Mesa and returned to her home last night. She had boarded a bus near home and got off at Costa Mesa, he told police. A county-wide radio broadcast was sent out by the sheriff's office before the girl was found.

STATE SCHOOL CHIEF TO BE CLUB SPEAKER

Vierling, Kersey, superintendent of the state department of education, will be the featured speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club tomorrow noon in James' cafe. It was announced today by Fred Crowell, club secretary.

The speaker will be introduced by George Wells, chairman of the Santa Ana board of education. The meeting was arranged by Carter Lane, who was appointed to take charge of the programs for the next three months by C. W. Rowland, program chairman.

Another feature of the meeting will be a demonstration of the properties of liquid air, to be made by a group of students from Santa Ana Junior college.

Through the efforts of E. T. Matter, chairman, and members of the underprivileged child committee of the Kiwanis club, a bicycle has been purchased for a high school boy who had found it necessary to walk three miles to school each day. The bicycle was purchased after reading a story in The Register concerning the case.

Within a month the local club will select delegates and alternates who will attend the Kiwanis International convention to be held at Toronto, Canada, from June 10 to 14.

HUNTER BRINGS YOUNG BOAR AS TRIP TROPHY

A tiny wild boar, but eight days old, had a new home today after having been brought back to Santa Ana by Dr. Percy Davis, local dentist, who accompanied a party of Los Angeles police officers on a hunting trip to Santa Cruz island, 30 miles off the Santa Barbara coast, over the week end.

Dr. Davis, who was accompanied on the hunting trip by G. W. Wrigley, of Fullerton, brought the small black boar to the newsroom of The Register in a satchel. It scampered curiously about the floor of the office while "Tipperary," Irish setter, pricked up his ears, wagged his tail and sniffed approvingly at the animal.

Likely the dog would not be so friendly in a few months, for according to Dr. Davis, the wild boars on the island sometimes weigh as much as 600 pounds and are extremely ferocious. One animal weighing about 800 pounds which had been killed and stuffed is on display on the island, he said.

During the first day of hunting the party did not see a wild boar, but on the second day five of them were bagged, in addition to 11 young boars which were captured and brought back alive.

The boars are believed to have descended from stock brought to the island by the Spaniards years ago. Unlike their domestic relatives, the boars have bushy tails, all are black, and their head and shoulders are as large as the balance of the body. They are swift runners.

But two shepherders live on the island.

The young boar which Dr. Davis brought back from the trip was given to Dr. Percy McGill, who plans to raise it at her home between Garden Grove and Santa Ana.

ARREST ITINERANT FOR GUITAR THEFT

Carrying a $300 guitar through the business district led to complications yesterday for James Swese, 22, Pennsylvania youth hitchhiking through Santa Ana, who was arrested by Officer A. T. Holmes and booked at the county jail on a grand theft charge.

Swese admitted taking the musical instrument from the parked car of Harry J. Wilson, Long Beach, which was parked in front of the Salvation Army building on Sycamore street Sunday night, according to officers.

Wilson had been playing at a program in the Army building and found the instrument and case missing about 8 p. m.

Officer N. C. Nelson found the case on West First street early yesterday and Officer Holmes arrested Swese at Fourth and French streets several hours later.

Tax clearance certificates, as required by law, are printed on the reverse side of the 1934 certificate of registration. The department has worked out an elaborate system of coding to facilitate the work of the assessors in the various cities and counties.

A score or more members of Girls' Ebell society assembled Friday afternoon in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Merrill Hollingsworth, 2442 Riverside drive, to enjoy the hospitality of Miss Janet Hollingsworth, daughter of the home, and Miss Jean McKay.

Tea was served shortly after arrival of the young people, with Miss Janet Hall presiding at the daintily arranged table. Four tall green tapers surrounded a centerpiece formed of graceful plumes of spruce.

Business discussion centered in plans for the sports dance which the society is giving on Saturday night, April 7, in the peacock room of Ebell clubhouse. Plans will be completed at the next Girls' Ebell meeting on Friday, March 23, with Miss Betty Jane Moore, 2004 Greenleaf street.

Young People Invited To Help Celebrate Birthday Event

Celebrating the eighteenth birthday anniversary of Roland Williams was a delightful party given Saturday night by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, in their home at Edinger and Bristol streets, and attended by a large group of young people.

Mrs. Williams had made the home gay with greenery and many bright yellow blossoms as a setting for the games introduced. Especially lively were the shoe-fitting contest and an auction sale. Prizes in the different contests went to winning couples, Miss Madelyn Woodruff and James Stepp, Miss Alice Skinner and Fred Garland, and Miss Beatrice Hinkle and Lester Smith.

One of the pleasantest intervals of the evening was when the guests produced the many and varied gifts they had chosen for the birthday celebrant who was one of last year's football stars at Polytechnic High school and popular in all campus activities.

Mrs. Williams had planned refreshments of a birthday cake with its 18 candles, served with ice cream and fruit punch to the accompaniment of yellow flowers, tall green candles and pretty green and yellow nut cups. She was assisted in serving by Miss Pearl Bailey and both donated gay little green and yellow crepe paper aprons for the rites.

Those invited to share this happy anniversary with the young man were the Misses Beatrice Hinkle, Betty Woodruff, Madelyn Woodruff, Alice Skinner, Harriet Skinner, Hilda Benjamin, Pearl Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Martin and young son Charles; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Johnson, Messrs. Allen Smith, James Stepp, Carl Blacklock, Ted Garland, Fred Garland, Emerald Penley, Leonard Benjamin, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

White Shrine Officers Complimented at Dinner

One of the prettiest dinner parties of recent date was given at The Corner House by Mrs. Della Maude Ryan and Henry Meyer, worthy high priestess and watchman of shepherds of Damascus White Shrine, who joined in entertaining the organization's officers and their husbands, numbering 60.

The dining room had been decorated with pastel tinted lilies and sweet peas. One large round table seating eight was used for the elective officers. Other guests found places at small tables where lace doilies and lighted tapers were among dainty appointments in evidence.

Following dinner the group adjourned to Masonic temple where bridge was enjoyed. Players were well rewarded, since the hosts had provided gifts for each guest present. Mrs. Ryan received a handsome coffee table as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Meyer.

SHOULDERS AND CURVES ARE STRESSED
PATTERN 1787
BY ANNE ADAMS

All your natural grace will be emphasized by this charming frock. Very chic is the upward curve of the waistline, and the sash from the side steams that is tied in the back. But the neck and shoulder arrangement is of exceptional interest and smartness. The ruffle edging is most femininely alluring, but you can leave this off if you prefer the simpler line of a plain edge. The little row of fast buttons in back fastens the neck band. Flowered silks and sheers are lovely for this dress, or you can use any of the plain fabrics with equal success.

Pattern 1787 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Dinner for Husbands Precedes Review Of Books

Mrs. Jack Valley plumed the depths of many a national and international situation last night in giving current comment and book reviews at Ebell clubhouse following Ebell society's annual dinner party complimenting husbands of members.

Discussing Europe's present turmoil, she prophesied that Austria will bring about a union with Germany, stating that whatever happens, Austria will influence the whole European continent. With equal directness Mrs. Valley came to the air mail and other situations in the United States, naming an intellectual attitude as the only safe force for today's complications.

She reviewed books whose characters were given life and placed in situations by contemporary authors who insist on the intellectual viewpoint. She reminded her audience of the intellectual point of view so dominant after the hysteria of the World War period had subsided.

Mrs. Valley's first review was of Sir Philip Gibbs' "The Cross of Peace," a story laid in France, bringing out the author's view, stated earlier by his theme, "the road to peace is a rocky road, but it does lead to the stars." She added that this theme was especially pertinent, since war in Europe seems imminent.

She suggested that sympathies of France and the United States should coincide, since France is the last nation in Europe to hold to parliamentary form of government; since both nations are in contradiction to many of their stated policies; since both France and United States have trouble in collecting their income taxes.

The speaker said that the summer months will undoubtedly bring a trek to Mexico, since Europe, with its tumult will not be a desirable touring point for those who wish to travel. She reviewed "Time Out for Adventure" by Leonidas Ramsey, a story of wanderings in Mexico; "written in an amusing style."

In quick succession she reviewed "Tia Barbarita" by Barbara Pert, an extraordinarily well written book; "I Went to Pitt College," by Lauren Gillilan, the choice of the Literary Guild for the month of March, a book which shows the change of mental attitude resulting with a change in surroundings; "My Life and Hard Times" by James Thurber, "a completely idiotic and amusing story" suitable for the entire family to read; "Work of Art" by Sinclair Lewis, a book which seems trivial in comparison with other books of the month, Mrs. Valley said.

She reviewed "The World Is Yours" by G. B. Lancaster, recommending it as one of few romances suitable for boys and girls of high school age; "A Modern Tragedy" by Phyllis Bentley, a story of economic war in England, with different understanding between different classes in industry; as its theme; "Without Amour" by James Hilton, a classic as an authentic description of Russia during the turmoil of the Revolution.

Mrs. Valley gave some time to "The Unforgotten Prisoner" by R. C. Hutchinson, a very long book which includes phases of the World war and vividly describes the complete loss of morale in post-war Germany. This was her closing review of a delightful group with an underlying theme, "The world is yours, says God, but you must pay for what you buy."

The program in the auditorium was preceded by a dinner party in the peacock room, with husbands as special guests. Throughout this pleasant interval music was furnished by Le Petit Trio, composed of Anna May Archer, cello; Robert Forney, violin; Amy Archer, piano. Current Events section served a delicious steak dinner at tables brightened with spring bouquets.

Gifted Young Violinist To Be Presented on Concert Program

Santa Ana friends of Miss Helen Tannenbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Tannenbaum, of this city and Los Angeles, who have followed her career as a concert violinist with much interest have learned with additional interest of an approaching concert in the music room of Los Angeles Biltmore hotel, in which she will be violin soloist.

It will be remembered that Miss Tannenbaum, who is but 16 years old, had the opportunity last year for a concert tour of the east, and was meeting with a gratifying success when she was called back to the coast by the serious illness of her father. Mr. Tannenbaum is still confined to his home and she has to give up all thoughts of eastern concerting for the present, but is continuing her studies under Josef Borisoff of Los Angeles.

The approaching engagement is to be on Monday night, March 19, and is the fourth in a series presented under the auspices of the Western Concert Artists' league. Artists to be presented with Miss Tannenbaum will be Helga Ericson, soprano, and Earl Vorhies, pianist, with Norman Soreng Wright, accompanist.

Miss Tannenbaum's violin numbers will include "Praeludium and Allegro," Paganini-Kreisler; "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso," Saint Saens; "Nocturne," Chopin-Wijelmi; "La Capriciosa," Franz Rise, and "Chorus of Dervishes," by Beethoven-Auer.

Miss Tannenbaum's early violin training was under Elwood Bear of this city, and many Santa Ana and Orange county music lovers have made arrangements to attend the coming musical event and tend the progress she has made in her work as a professional.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM Luncheon

Spring Salad:
Water cress
Celery, cut fine
Lettuce sliced fine
Shredded cabbage
Tomatoes if wished
French mustard dressing.
1 toasted roll
1-2 tsp. butter
Clear tea, with lemon and sacharin.

Calory total, 225.
Prepare all salad greens for the evening dinner, shredding them fine. Rub a large bowl (chopping bowl is swell) with garlic, put the salad greens in it and set in a cool place until needed for dinner, then pour French dressing over and mix with two forks until every shred is coated with oil. The tomatoes are sliced thin and arranged over the salad.

Take out a goodly portion for the diet luncheon. In a bowl put 1 tsp. of prepared mustard, 1 tsp. sugar, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. steak sauce and 1-4 cup mineral oil. Stir well, and add 3 Tbsps. of vinegar. Pour over green salad and mix well.

A Sum'Shine Hot Dessert
Lemon Souffle
2 eggs, whites beaten stiff
1 cup fine sugar
Juice and grated rind 1 lemon
1 rounded Tbsp. flour
1 cup sweet milk
Pinch of salt.

Put egg yolks, flour, salt, sugar, lemon rind and juice in a bowl and beat well. Add milk and mix, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in a shallow dish, turned dish, placed in a larger dish of hot water. Oven must be extremely moderate—not more than 250 degrees F. Bake the pudding 30 minutes.

This pudding has a top like a delicate sponge cake and underneath will be found a delicate lemon jelly. Serve with thin cream. The pudding serves six.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Onion Souffle

1 cup boiled onions
4 Tbsps. butter
4 Tbsps. flour
1-2 cup onion liquid
1-2 cup thin cream
3 eggs, whites beaten stiff
Salt and pepper.
Slice 1-2 cups raw onion fine and cook in 1 cup boiling water. When very soft crush the pulp, press the juice through a sieve and measure the pulp to make 1 cup pulp, and the liquid to make 1-2 cup.

Melt butter, blend with flour and simmer five minutes before adding onion juice and cream. Cook until it makes a thick cream, then add the onion pulp and draw the vessel off the stove for a moment.

Beat egg yolks thick and yellow and whites stiff. Add beaten yolks to the onion part, fold in the whites, taste and season. Bake in a buttered casserole 25 minutes, moderate oven. Serve at once.

This souffle makes the main part of the course in a vegetable plate.

The calories total 1255 and there are portions for six.

Colorful Easter Theme Observed at Merry Party

Decorative details of a party given recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Osterman, East Seventeenth street, embodied many of the lovely features which the word Easter suggests to the very young child. The occasion was the fourth birthday anniversary of Shirley Mae Prather, with her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Foster Prather, of El Toro, and Mrs. Osterman as hostesses.

Appointments were in such rainbow hues as might be seen in a nest of Easter eggs. Sweet peas, geraniums and peach blossoms, furthered the colorful theme. Games were played and Master Leland Finley was awarded a prize for his success in pinning a furry tail on a cardboard rabbit.

After pictures of the group had been taken, guests were escorted to a large table where an Eastern egg nest concealed favors connected by cellophane ribbons to cards marking each place. Dotting the table were figures of fluffy baby chickens, with mother hen, a rabbit, a rooster and other symbols of the season. Cellophane ribbons in rainbow hues and chickens swung from the chandelier.

Birthday cake, ice cream and cookies were served. Shirley Mae was surprised indeed when a shiny new wagon which she had received as a gift, was placed before her laden with packages from her playmates.

Little Miss Shirley Mae's guests were Gregory Carroll, Del Bromell, Leland E. Finley, Beverly Manderscheid, Santa Ana; Mary Jane Bacon, Yvonne Bacon, Bob McCalla, Buddy McCalla, Tustin; Virginia Rowe, Pauline Owens, Los Angeles; Ronald Harris, Rita Mae Harris, Irvine; Lois Ann Stevens, El Toro; Clyde Bernhardt, Wilmington.

Young mothers sharing the affair with Mrs. Osterman and Mrs. Prather were all graduates of Tustin Union High school who have continued their school day friendship. They included Mesdames Andrew Carroll, George Bromell, Leland Finley, Russell Manderscheid, Lorraine Rowe, Paul Owens, Clyde Bernhardt, Frank Bacon, James McCalla, George Harris and George Stevens.

Two Guests at Dinner Share Birthday Honors

R. T. Dixon and Master Bobbie Read shared birthday honors recently at a dinner party given at the Golden Camel cafe, 2600 West First street, with Mrs. R. T. Dixon and Mrs. Robert Wallace as co-hostesses at the pleasant event. Shortly after 6 o'clock dinner was served to 50 guests, seated at a large table decorated with jonquils and ferns. Birthday cakes lighted with tapers were placed before the two natal day celebrants. A group of guests formed an orchestra, playing "Happy Birthday to You" for community singing.

Dusty Allen acted as master of ceremonies. Musical numbers given during the evening included vocal solos by Frank Marr. Cards and dancing was enjoyed.

Those taking part in the affair were Messrs and Mesdames C. E. Dixon, G. H. Brader, W. A. West, J. D. Seely, Harry Coleman, Ed Mortz, Robert C. Wallace, R. T. Dixon, Mrs. Edna May Seiber, Miss Mary Jane Seiber, Mrs. Mabel E. Read, Mrs. Catherine Read, Miss Betty Lou Coleman, Master Bobbie Read and Messrs Leslie Christianson, Eugene Brookbank, Frank Marr, Jackie Marr, Richard Seiber, J. R. Basham, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Thomas, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Ben O. Dye, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bruster, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bruster, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Huntington, Miss Anita Stewart, Miss Lillian Barr, Fred Beasley, Dusty Allen, Hollis Bussell, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pepin and Miss Pepin, Inglewood; Lee Marts, Linwood.

Parent-Teachers

McKinley F. T. A. executive board met the past week with Mrs. Harold Greenwald, 1210 West First street, for a covered-dish luncheon. Decorations suggested the approach of St. Patrick's day.

During a business meeting conducted by Mrs. John J. Mills, president, reports were given by officers and committee chairman.

In the group with Mrs. Greenwald and Mrs. Mills were Mrs. Dale H. Elliott, Mrs. Fred Rosenbaum, Mrs. Robert Emerson, Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand.

Bridge Club Spends Pleasant Evening

Miss Virginia Golden observed a pretty Easter theme the past week in decorating her home at 411 South Sycamore street for a meeting of her two-table bridge club. White lilies and ferns were used in profusion.

Tallies designed as Easter bunnies were distributed for card games. Winners were Miss Miriam Samuelson and Mrs. Clyde Higgins, scoring first and second high. Others present were Miss Helen Demetriou, Miss Dorothy Dunbar, Miss Rosalind Schilling, Miss George Gail Pennock, a special guest, Miss Rosie Kaplan, and the hostess, Miss Golden.

Miss Golden served date nut pudding topped with whipped cream at prettily appointed tables.

ROOSEVELT ASKS FOR TARIFF POWERS

The President has asked Congress for Executive powers to modify tariff rates to the extent of 50 per cent. He now has the power to change rates, but only after the Tariff Commission has made an investigation of the particular schedule and made its recommendation. This takes considerable time, and Mr. Roosevelt wants power to act quickly and to make bargains with the other nations in the interest of American industry.

Four years ago, Mr. Hoover asked the Congress to make some minor changes in the tariff. When the matter was thrown into the Congressional hopper, the whole schedule of tariffs was thrown in. The result was the Hawley-Smoot Tariff Act, the biggest log-rolling scheme and the biggest blunder of the Hoover administration. General Hancock, in the presidential campaign of 1880, stated that the tariff was a local issue, and everybody laughed at him. We now know that he was just right. When the tariff comes in for revision, every interest wants its chance at the trough. The New England shoe manufacturer wants a tariff on shoes and the Northwest lumber interests want a tariff on lumber, and they are willing to make a trade with each other. The Pennsylvania coal and steel interests want a tariff and the Louisiana, Colorado and California sugar interests want a tariff, and they are ready to trade off with each other.

This is the way our great industries have been built up. Upon these things millions of our workers, as well as billions of invested capital, depends. To be sure, this affects our export trade, if not almost destroys it, but it has developed our American industries and has exalted American labor. It does, of course tend, to be sure, to add the price of the tariff to the consumer, but almost every consumer in every part of the United States is benefitted by the tariff upon some article which he is engaged in producing. Unfortunately, we are not operating under ideal conditions but in a terribly practical and selfish world. Its relation to our sugar industry we have discussed at length in another editorial recently.

It has become imperative that something be done about the tariff. The President is thoroughly aware of it. Since we are now a creditor nation, we shall have to receive foreign goods in exchange for our exported products. The President, if authority is granted to him by the Congress, will be in a position to make trades with foreign nations on terms making for mutual benefit. The world will continue in the doldrums just so long as tariff walls impede the natural flow of trade. Everyone recognizes, since our economic life is adjusted to high tariffs, that a sudden reduction would demoralize many of our industries. But with the President in control of the matter, it could be adjusted gradually with a minimum of economic disturbance, providing he takes every part of the country into consideration.

CHILDREN FOREVER

A year or more ago there came to this country from England an aged lady who, as a child, became known to the world through Lewis Carroll's stories as "Alice in Wonderland." And as a child Alice will continue to live forever, despite age and death. More recently, another aged lady died in Cambridge, Massachusetts, who has become immortal in Longfellow's poem, "The Children's Hour," as the "laughing Allegra." These two aged women will never be more than wraiths of the children who have become immortal.

In thinking of these two, one wonders whether, after all, life has anything more important about it than significant events. The child grows to maturity and then to age, but existence in itself means little to the developing man or woman. It is the contacts made, the interests awakened, and the ties of great friendships and the impact of great experiences that fix life's significance, not only to the individual, but also to the larger world of which the individual is a part.

Men of prominence and fame linger on through the years; we see them in their decrepitude; pictures are made of them in their latter years. And as we look upon the bent form, or upon the picture in the newspaper, we are disposed to ask, "Is that the man who led a nation through a great crisis? Is that the great scholar who changed the trend of the world's thinking? Is that the great financial and industrial leader who held the fate of thousands under his control?" No, it was not. Like the aged women whom great writers have made immortal as children, we shall have to fix some specific moment or some specific event in their lives when they were singled out from the crowd, either through an eminence of their own or through their association with another, and stood out wrapt in the solitude of their own originality.

Washington at Trenton or at Valley Forge, still a young man; Lincoln at Gettysburg or delivering his second inaugural, in the prime of his influence and powers; Wilson sailing for Paris to engage in the futile effort to make an end of war and the world safe for democracy; Franklin Roosevelt, on March 4, 1933, striking a note from the porch of the Capitol in Washington, the echoes of which still sound throughout the land; these are the men as they will be known to history.

And it appears to be all so accidental and incidental, as in the case of Lord Byron who woke up one morning to find himself famous. This is not a preachment. It simply calls our attention to the strange and fortuitous circumstances which single the world's notables out from the crowd, and, regardless of withering age and the flights of time, make them forever childlike or forever strong.

"MAIN STREET NEEDS WALL STREET"

This remark is attributed to Ernest T. Weir of the National Steel company of West Virginia, the industrial leader with whom the N. R. A. has been in conflict for the past few months. In an address recently delivered, he stated that in the depths of the depression a large industrial concern needed $40,000,000 to carry on its plant, and keep its men at work. Application was made to the bankers of Wall Street, and they furnished the money.

But the question may be asked, where did the bankers get the money? Was it not the product of the thrift and the savings of the people of Main Street scattered over this wide land? Look over the list of the stockholders of the American railroad companies, the utility companies, the largest manufacturing companies, the real estate loan corporations, and who have contributed the money to build up these great enterprises? Are they not the masses of men and women who, out of their smaller incomes, have loaned their moneys to the bankers, and who in turn have re-loaned it to these great enterprises? Wall Street is the gate to Main Street; and without Main Street Wall Street could not do business. The trouble with the country at the present time is that Main Street has lost confidence in Wall Street. That is the reason why a Securities act and a Stock Exchange Regulating act are needed to restore the confidence of Main Street in Wall Street.

Let us get things in their proper order and their proper relations, and then all of us,—the people of Wall Street and the people of Main Street,—will understand each other and usher in the new era of co-operation. And Mr. Weir ought to be the first to learn that lesson.

Most of Europe nowadays is like a road under construction—you travel over it at your own risk.

THE VIRGIN ISLANDS UNDER THE NEW DEAL

President Hoover, after his visit to the Virgin Islands while he was president, came back and told the nation that these islands which we had acquired from Denmark were really the poorhouse of the nation. The people of the islands resented that slur, and turned themselves toward a rehabilitation of their island home. The bay rum industry had suffered somewhat on account of the Eighteenth amendment, and Denmark had never done much to develop the economic life of the islands.

Then came the New Deal, and with it an effort to revive the agricultural and the economic and social life of the people. The N. R. A. has turned its attention in that direction. Probably the P. W. A. will open up some projects there. Those most familiar with the islands of the Caribbean tell us that there is no reason why the Virgin Islands may not be as economically self-sufficient as the Bahamas and many other islands of the Antilles. Certainly, no territory of the United States should continue to be a poorhouse. If such a territory has any resources at all, they should be developed. If there are no resources, the people might be transported where they can get a livelihood.

CHAIN LETTERS

The arrival of a chain letter suggests: Why chain letters? There are only two possible reasons. One is that they help Uncle Sam's postoffice by the sale of stamps. The other reason is that the chain letter reveals whether people are good followers or not. If one says to himself: Well, why not? and then mails the letter, he is a good follower. But if he says: What the heck! and throws the letter in the waste basket, he is independent.

Smelt Are in the Sandy

Portland Oregonian

The smelt are in the Sandy!—well, a few will come in handy—grab a gunnysack, Miranda—or we'll stop at Fox's store—get a hurry on! good heaven!—we shan't be there till eleven and the neighbors left at seven—but we betcha we get more!

That miraculous sending of fishes. Incalculably numerous. Cyclic. And excellent beyond praise in the skillet. It is observed with approval that the reporters brought out the bird cage again when they wrote of the coming of the smelt. There must always be a bird cage in a Sandy river smelt story—a dicky-bird cage used in lieu of a dip-net. It is among the hallowed traditions.

Once there came a tourist lady to the Sandy when the smelt were in the river. A multitude of citizens lined the banks and dipped copiously of the living silver. The professionals wearily rested, affecting to be bored by it all, and their boats and improvised docks were heavily laden with smelt that yet were twitching. The tourist lady surveyed the scene somewhat severely, and at close range. Then she said to a rubber-booted young native, standing beside his catch, she said, "Are they fresh?"

And once there was an ambitious mathematician who wore out three lead pencils in calculations of the smelt run in the Sandy, at what he said was its height. In a broadly general way, said he, there were then enough of smelt in the river to provide a meal of four fish for every person in the world. He bade us think of it. Just to think of it. But—said he—the run was over. Thereupon the smelt run in the Sandy swelled unbelievably beyond all that it had been, and for more than two weeks thereafter put to shame its previous manifestations. The mathematician bogged down and wept like a child. He shook his head but said no word when kindly souls offered him lead pencils. The smelt, it seems, are in the Sandy again.

No, thank you, Mr. Penny—but we wouldn't care for any—we have had so very many—that we're sort of in a fog—smelt no longer can enthuse us—we don't see why you should choose us—take your smelt to Mrs. Whoosis—or we'll have to call the dog!

More Truth Than Poetry

HOME IS BEST

I have never faced a puma
 In the land of Montezuma;
 I have never prodded tigers
 In the wilds of Hindustan.
 Such adventures, I conjecture,
 Might enable me to lecture,
 But I'll try to make my living
 With more prudence, if I can.

Walrus abound in legions
 In the frozen polar regions;
 They would make a splendid subject
 For a great adventure book.
 But these brutes look rather feral,
 And I am not fond of peril.
 So I'll spend my winter evenings
 In my cozy inglenook.

There are men who love to wander
 Here and there and over yonder.
 Where the pythons twine their torsos
 'Round the giant teakwood trees.
 This, I feel, would not delight me,
 For some nervous snake might bite me,
 And I much prefer enjoyment
 And a life of idle ease.

You may say that I'm a catfist,
 But my hair would rise up straight, if
 I should face a raging rhino
 In the heart of the Soudan.
 For, and possibly you guessed it
 When I hadn't yet confessed it,
 And regard me with derision,
 I am not a daring man.

Corporal W. P. Good of the Santa Ana recruiting office, lost a purse in Fullerton containing $176. Fern S. Bishop of Santa Ana had received a contract to build what was declared to be the largest walnut packing plant in the world. It was to be constructed for La Puente Walnut Growers' association at Puente and would cost $125,000.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

DIPLOMAS AND DISCONTENT

A general disillusionment with a generation of college and university education that has not produced a leadership better equipped to keep the social and economic order from running amuck is increasingly evident.

But, added to this general skepticism, there is today a special factor that gravely threatens the popular enthusiasm for college and university education that has heretofore been a distinguishing mark of the American temper.

I refer to the long and lean army of college and university graduates who have tasted the bitter bread of insecurity and had their spirits broken on the rack of unemployment.

I have seen the inside of the minds of hundreds of these men during the last four years. And, as executive head of a university, concerned with the maintenance of a fruitful social attitude towards the enterprise of education, I do not like what I have seen there.

In the long hours of enforced idleness, these men have tightened their belts and let their minds run reminiscences back over the long years of college and university training that left them workless in a world of closed doors.

These men are today, by and large, centers of dissatisfaction with the content and focus of college training.

They are not irrational enough to assume that college training can ever become an infallible insurance against unemployment or that the universities can magi-caly stabilize the turbulence of this transition into a new world of science and technology.

It does seem to them, however, as they ponder the wreck of their own lives and watch the wreckage that the depression has left generally, that the whole social situation might be materially different today if, during the last two decades, the colleges, in their curricular arrangements and teaching guidance, had attacked more directly the problem of giving their graduates a living and informed sense of the forces and tendencies that have combined to give this historic juncture its peculiar and perilous character.

When this army of unemployed college and university graduates grow critical of the program of education served to them, it will, I suggest, be more profitable to the colleges and universities to listen to them than to lambaste them.

They have a point. Sooner or later we shall all be forced to see the necessity for a new kind of college program, some important section of which must be deliberately devised, not in terms of the departmental patterns and objectives of professional scholarship, but for the social purpose of better fitting men to play a productive role in the creation, the comprehension, and the control of a workable social order in the midst of the revolutionary forces of science and technology which have rendered the traditional social order so threateningly insecure.

THOROUGH PREPARATION

Strong growth and the power is bestows is never an overnight affair. Time and experience must enter into the matter, time and experience and sound preparation. The finer the preparation the sounder the growth, and the more powerful. Shortcuts are the privilege of the arrived, of the masters. Before they arrived at the heights they underwent a long and thorough preparation.

We in the United States seem to be cursed with a desire for haste. We are impatient with the long steady day by day preparation. We take no joy in the labor of preparation. Our eyes are on the heights and we stumble along in a frantic effort to arrive there without painful effort, and above all, without delay. The sooner the quicker is a slogan with more root than we like to admit.

This is especially true in education. "Skip along, children, skip along. Don't waste precious time in nibbling. Take it in your stride. Why wait until you're gray? Be a success in your youth." And by success is meant place, money and the power they bring.

Time is precious and youth is not to be wasted. But is this hurry-scurry saving? Not in my experience. The child who arrives in the upper grades of the elementary school with a weak foundation in tables, in reading power, in his habits of preparation is at a loss. He is required to have certain facts at the end of his pencil. If he has not made them his own he must stop now and grope for them, worry about whether seven times seven is forty-nine, whether there are eight quarts in a gallon—or maybe it's a peck? That pupil is lost no matter how high an I. Q. he can claim. He will have to go back and repair the gaps left by his faulty preparation.

Children in the elementary schools, students in high schools and colleges, lost heart, lose courage and faith, and fail because they were not thoroughly prepared for the work they are trying to do.

The waste in time and money and human effort is heartbreaking. Why can't we save time and energy and money and power by making thorough preparation for the end in view? A musician must know his scales, his fingering, his music with certainty. The professional man must read with sure swift eye and mind. The artist must master his technique before he can be truly creative. That is what few of us are willing to do. Never mind the preliminaries. Just drive for the finish. But those preliminaries are what make the differences between failure and success.

What ever we teach should be taught thoroughly, and to the last child in the class, to the last student in the laboratory. The teacher who knows and respects his own work will not be willing to lend himself to a shoddy slipshod job. His work is teaching and until the pupil learns, that work is not complete.

We save time by sliding over the fundamentals. We lose time. Along with the burden of ignorance such pupils carry they must shoulder a load of fear. Fear always goes with uncertainty. Only the sure child is brave and only the brave can hope to win. The price of real success is thorough preparation.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
